COLLECTION SYSTEMS CONFERENCE

Race to Indy – 25 Years of Wet Weather Control

Conference: June 4–7 | Exhibition: June 5–6
Indiana Convention Center | Indianapolis, IN

#Collections19

www.wef.org/CollectionSystems

This conference is held by the Water Environment Federation in cooperation with the Indiana Water Environment Association and The Water Research Foundation.

Join us in Indianapolis, Indiana, to celebrate 25 years of wet weather control, featuring a robust program highlighting continued advances in the wastewater collection systems sector.

This four-day event gives attendees ample time to experience and learn about the history of improvements in the City of Indianapolis and adjacent communities, as well as exciting projects and technologies being utilized across the country.

Learn about local area projects, tunnels, trenchless technology, and asset management; get a real-world look at projects implemented in the Indianapolis area; and participate in an interactive experience with equipment, technology, and service vendors that continue to improve efforts in providing high quality collection systems infrastructure throughout the county.

PRE-CONFERENCE WORKSHOPS

PLEASE SEE NEXT PAGE FOR PRICING.

WORKSHOP A: BEST SEWER REHABILITATION PRACTICES FOR MITIGATING I/I: INTEGRATED APPROACHES, INNOVATIVE TECHNOLOGIES AND INTERACTIVE SOLUTIONS

8:30am – 5:00pm

This workshop showcases speakers from across the country and provides access to the combined knowledge of several experts in the field of sewer rehabilitation strategy and technology. Content will highlight successful sewer rehabilitation programs, with a focus on I/I reduction, within the context of asset management programs, and new rehabilitation technologies. Attending this workshop will provide the confidence needed to select appropriate sewer rehabilitation practices.

WORKSHOP B: INFILTRATION AND INFLOW MODELING FOR COLLECTION SYSTEM UTILITIES

8:30am – 5:00pm

This workshop provides attendees with an understanding of rainfall-derived infiltration and inflow (RDII) modeling tools and monitoring best practices for establishing effective infiltration and inflow (I/I) reduction and remediation programs. Case studies for how the application of these tools reduced the overall cost of compliance programs and collection system maintenance will be discussed. In break-out sessions' attendees will analyze monitoring data and use software for determining RDII.

FACILITY TOURS

FACILITY TOUR 1: BELMONT AWTP AND JUAN SOLOMAN PARK LIFT STATION

Thursday, June 6 | 1:00 pm – 4:00 pm

Maximum 60 attendees.

This tour includes a site visit to one of Indianapolis' most interesting lift stations, with a capacity of 38 MGD, constructed under Juan Soloman Park in an Indianapolis neighborhood. Following the lift station tour, attendees will move to the Belmont Advanced Wastewater Treatment Plant (AWTP), one of two treatment plants owned and operated by Citizens Energy Group. Belmont AWTP was expanded to 300 MGD as part of the Combined Sewer Overflow Consent Decree and included improvements like eliminating primary effluent discharge and adding wet weather storage basins, new clarifiers, and UV disinfection. The tour will include a walkthrough of the plant, highlighting recent process improvements.

FACILITY TOURS

FACILITY TOUR 2: DIGINDY DEEP ROCK TUNNEL

Friday, June 7 | 8:30 am – 11:30 am

Maximum 30 attendees.

Tour participants will visit the working shaft location for the Citizens Energy Group DigIndy deep rock tunnel project and have the opportunity to descend via personnel cage the 240 feet to the bottom of the tunnel for a truly groundbreaking experience. The DigIndy Tunnel System is a 28-mile long network of 18-foot diameter deep rock tunnels being built 250 feet beneath the city. Along with other projects in the combined sewer system and at Citizens Energy Group's two advanced wastewater treatment plants, the $2 billion program is Indy's solution to reducing combined sewer overflows into area waterways by up to 97 percent and keeping the utility in compliance with a Consent Decree with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.
